SATURDAY, Oct. 9-6 P. M. The weekly statement of the associated banks is quite favorable to monetary ease in our local mar-ket, although it continues to reflect the deadlock in the movement of the crops. Thus, although the loans have been contracted four and a half millions, the deposits have fallen off only four millions, show ing that the currency movement, as between this city and the interior, is still in our favor, contrary to the precedent of the season. The increase in specie is over five and a half millions, owing to the return to the banks of gold and gold certificates employed in the recent speculation and kept out of the banks to aid those whose operations were based on the scarcity of the actual gold. A decrease of two millions in legal tenders is not so easily no counted for, and excites considerable comment.

Government bonds were dull and steady, despite the denial of the report that the Rothschilds were about to tender a loan at a reduced rate of interest. The Evening Telegram gives shape to this dental as Ne learn on the best authority that the report which comes here from Washington respecting the mission of Mr. Friguet to this country, asserting him to be an agent of the Rothschilds sent here to offer a loan to the government, is without any foundation in fact. Mr. Friguet is not and has never, we beheve, been connected with the nouse of Rothschild. He is assaciated with the Ransas Pacific Railroad Company, and visits this country to make arrangements for setting emigrants upon the line of that road. The denial of his mission having any relation to our government, or of his representative character as an agent of Rothschild, or of the Rothschilds having any source a proposition of a loan to the Secretary of the Treasury, is denied by authority. It is further stated that the last expression of opinion from the Rothschilds upon this subject was to the effect that any attempt to negotiate a loan on the part of the American government at a lower rate of interest would result in the return of very large amounts of our bonds hither. Of this there can be scarcely any doubt, as an American bond at 4 or 4% per cent would be placed in competition with Prussian and other German and Russian bonds, with the advantage to European capitalists in favor of these latter of being nearer home. Our bonds now obtain preference solely because of the higher rate of luterest they pay. What other inducements could preference solely because of the higher rate of interest they pay. What other inducements could be offered to capitalists, however, in her of this reduction in interest is an open question yet.

The stock market was steady and dull. From day to day it illustrates the story of the trog in the well, rising a certain percentage and then falling back, the general result being a slight advance. The quantity of this advance measures the returning confidence of the "buil" side of speculation. The slight fluctuations from hour to hour are taken advantage of for small "turns" by the brokers, but the outside public are still cautious about buying. Each advance of any moment calls out short sales by the few operators who venture at all. The ease of the money market even has falled to tempt large buying. The disposition of the street to "go short" will doubtless induce the cliques to cultivate the feeling, in order that they may get a sufficiently large "bear" element in the market on which to "buil" prices. The Lake Shore directors have adjourned to Wednesday next without electing a treasurer. They give notice by advertisement that stock certificates Nos. 201 to 401, both inclusive, for one hundred shares each, and certificate No. 402, for twenty-four shares, standing in the name of Lockwood & Co., and dated August 30, 1860; also stock certificates Nos. 23,725, 23,730, 23,731, 23,732, 23,733 and 23,734 of the late Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana Railroad Company, standing in the name of Le Grand Lockwood in trust, are claimed by the company as its property; and that a committee of the directors will attend at the office daily on and after Monday, the 11th inst., between the hours of two and three r. M., to receive evidence of the rights or claims of other parties or holders to said certificates. And further, that if such committee find and certify that any of said certificates are held by a purchaser who has taken the same in good faith, without notice and for fall price paid, such certificate may be transferred when the books are opened. The stock touched $5% at its highest to-day. Pitisburg was notive and rose to 1023. Wells-Fargo rose to 26% on the continued report of a contract with the Pacific Express Company. After the boards the market became heavy in sympathy with a decline in Chicago and Northwestern, the earnings of which road have fallen off over $50,000 for the last week of September as compared with the corresponding week in 1868.

THE RONEY HOMICIDE.

Queer Threats-A Plea for Fair Play. The course pursued by Coroner Rollins in committing to the Tombs Robert Fry, the colored man, after he had been acquitted by the jury for taking the life of Peter Roney in self-defence, has been somewhat severely commented upon by a portion of the city press in consequence of misunderstanding the motives which prompted the action of the the motives which prompted the action of the Goroner. The fact is that Fry was perfectly willing to be temporarily detained, and his counsel and likewise many friends deemed that a judicious step to take. The day following his commitment, however, Fry was discharged, and it said that immediately afterwards he left the city to avoid trouble which might case if he continued in the service of his employer. Fry's life has been threatened, and there are men sufficiently desperate to carry the threat into execution should a convenient opportunity be presented.

Prison for the term of twenty years.

The Grand Jury came into court and reported that they had disposed of all the cases put before them, and the Court ordered them to be discharged.

District Attorney Morris then arose and desired to say a few words about the Grand Jury which had just disissed its term of service. He had had a great many years' experience of grand Juries, and he felt it due to the gentlemen present to say that a more industrious or emicent body of grand juries, and he felt it due to the gentlemen present to say that a more industrious or emicent body of grand juries, and he felt it due to the gentlemen present to say that a more came under his notice. To show the amount of work done by them during the session he would state that the number of cases examined by the Grand Jury was 155, of which 29 were dismissed, and 126 indictments were found, as follows:—Murder, 1; assault and battery, with intent to kill and do bodily harm, 12; obtaining goods by false pretences, 4; assault and battery, 9; grand larceny, 3; petit larceny, 4; burgary, 18; rape, 4; embezziement, 6; receiving stoien goods, 8; excise, 4; arson, 3; abandonment, 1; disorderly house, 1; carrying concealed weapons, 1; reseace, 2; abduction, 1; petity, 4; mayhem, 2; administering poison, 1; misdemeanor, 2; conspiracy, 3; forgery, 2; subornation of perjury, 2.

EROGRLYN INTELLIGENCE.

ARRESTS .- During the week ending yesterday there were 366 arrests by the police of the several Brooklyn precincts.

LINCOLN MONUMENT.-The Lincoln monument will with appropriate ceremonials for the occasion. On with appropriate ceremonias for the occasion. On the same day the Commissioners will signalize the event by formally opening the beautiful West Drive, which completes the circuit around the park, and is now almost completed. The West Drive is about a mile in length, and the scenic effect over the course is really splendid.

BURGLARY-$500 STOLEN .- The police of the Forty first precinct were notified yesterday that the gro cery store of H. Jones & Bros., 293 Atlantic street, had been entered by burglars during the preceding night and robbed of $400 in money and a check for $100. The burglars effected an entrance by forcing a rear cellar window and a trap door, which latter opened into the store.

FATAL SHOTTING ACCIDENT.—A young man named Henry Riker, residing in Broadway, near Cook street, Williamsburg, accidentally shot himself through the heart at Middle Village yesterday fore-noon and died in a few minutes. Mr. Riker was gunning at the time, and the sad accident occurred while he was getting over a fence. An inquest was held by Coroner Sebs, and the body arrived last evening at the late residence of deceased.

CITIZENS' REFORM ASSOCIATION .- The executive ment signifying their unqualified disappropriation of the action of the meeting on Friday night. They claim that it was taken possession of by parties hestile to the association, declare their intention of holding a regular meeting at Phomix Hail on Monday evening, to which members only are invited, in concluding their card the committee say:—'if the proceedings of last night are not enough to make it the duty of our responsible cluzens to assist mall honest endeavors to reform, arguments and reason are useless."

AN INHUMAN LANDLORD CENSURED BY A CORD NER'S JURY .- John Hennessey, a landlord of certain premises in Union place, near Van Brunt street, is held up to public opprobrium by the verdict of a coroner's jury just rendered. The case is that of woman named Catharine McGahan, forty-nine years woman named Catharine McGahan, forty-nine years of age, who for some time past has been suifering from dropps and confined to her bed. She resided with her son, daughter and husband (the latter a hard drinking man, who did not work) in apartments in a house owned by one John Hennessey. Falling in arrears seventeen dollars, the landford procured a warrant for their ejection from the premises. The document provided that the sick woman should not be molested in her room. This was unsatisfactory to the mogul of the domicile, who insisted that she was only pretending to be sick, and demanded possession of all the apartments. The daughter secured other lodgings in the neighborhood and caused her mother to be removed there, as Hennessey would not accept twenty golars which was offered him to allow the dying woman to remain. The invalid died on Tuesday morning, the day following their eviction. The dying woman to remain. The invalid died on Tuesday morning, the day following their eviction. The coroner's jury found that "death was caused by cropsy, hastened by the inhuman treatment of the landlord, John Heinessey, in removing her in the condition she was then in."

War. The war has cost Brazil at the rate of £35,000 ster-The war has cost Brazil at the rate of £35,090 stering, and 199 men per diem; is has cost the Argentine Republic about £6,000 and twelve men per diem, and Montevideo about £800 and two men daily, which sum up as follows:-Brazil, fity-six months, £65,230,000 stering, and 168,000 men; Argentine Republic, fity-two months, £0.86,000, and 18,7:0 men; Montevideo, £1,248,000, and 3,7:0 men. Maxing a total of £66,888,000 stering, and 189,840 men, as the cost of the war to the alies. This is not a mere speculative calculation, but a return based on most authentic sources.

At first sight it would appear that the losses of Brazil seem out of all proportion; but it must be borne in mind that more than three-fourths of the whole of the fleet and most of the land forces belonged to Brazil, and it is stated by well informed parties that the actual army it Paraguay consists as follows:-22,000 Brazilians, 3,000 Argentines, and 1,000 Orientals, the last named being in reality Paraguayans.

1,000 Orientals, the last named being in reality Paraguayans.

The injury sustained by Brazil will hardly be recovered in the present century, that caused to Buenos Ayres and the Banda Oriental may be repaired by ten years of peace, but the blow to Paraguay has been linal and destructive. Brazil has gained a valuable and efficient navy, such as she had not before, but the loss in men and money is incalculable. Buenos Ayres and Montevideo have gained by an extraordinary influx of gold and a great trade in army supplies, but they have lost in every other respect; many growing enterprises have been checked or abandoned, the administration of rural matters and Interests has been totally forgotten, and security for hile and property has greatly diminished.

The future of Paraguay is a blank. The allies have given it liberly, but the country is now a howling wilderness, which once bloomed like the happy valley of Resselas.

Details of Comto D'En Campaign.

Details of Comte D'En Campaign.

[From the Anglo-Brazilian Times, Sept. 7.]

The news from Paraguay appears to warrant the presomption that the war is virtually at its end, although Lopez, it is most probable, has secured his retreat, with a small force, through the devotion of his army, and may yet give troubse.

After the Comte d'Eu, with the bulk of the Brazilian army, and small contingents of Argentine and Oriental troops, in all about 18,000 men, had reached Vaienzuelas, he pushed on without delay towards Periochus, driving the Paraguayan skirmishers, and arrived before that capital on the 10th of August, inding it fortided, mounted with ten cannon and garrisoned by 1,600 to 2,000 men. The need of protecting from overwhelming force an expedition detached to try and occupy Barreiro, delayed the attack a day, but on the morning of the 12th Peribebuy was bombarded and stormed, the Paraguayans losing two-tunids of their garrison, while the victors had only some 500 hors de combat.

On the 15th the Come of Ea's command reached the arsenal of Caacupé, whose machinery was found destroyed, and it was then learned that during the two preceding days the Paraguayans had effected the evacuation of Ascurra and Caacupé, the Argentine and Brazilian forces that were to have co-operated on the Paraguayan right having failed to force the ascent in time to place themselves between Lopez and his line of retreat. The troops which had passed through Caacupé were estimated by intelligent observers at about 8,000, with sixty pieces of cannon.

On learning the enemy's escape the Comte d'Eu nurried on his two army corps by forced marches along two roads, and on the 16th, while one corps reached and estimismed with a retreating force, the other, with the Comte d'Eu, came, at about ten miles from Curugustay, upon the gross of the enemy, estimated at from 5,000 to 4,000 men, disposed in line of battle to contest the bassage of the ford across the Juquery. The enemy was immediately attacked by greatly superior forces quickly brought to bear, and after a stubborn conflict of five or six hours his flank was turned, his whole force routed with heavy loss and twenty cannon were taken, while from the inediciency of the Paraguayan armament the allied loss was small.

On the 17th the joint argentine and Brazilian corps effected its junction with the Comte d'Eu. On the 18th the three corps set out in pursuit, and the same day the central corps routed a force of 1,600 men, with twelve cannon, who had intrenched themselves on the road, and took all the cannon.

On the 21st General Mitre and General Auto's column beat another Paraguayan force, and on the same day the middle column, commanded by Marshal Victorino, routed 1,500 Paraguayans and captured their twelve cannon.

The Comte d'Ea also telegraphs that the Paraguayans burned their secamers in the Manduvira, about the 18th.

Lopez is supposed to have lost nearly all his cannon and to have saved only his body guard of 500 men and some remnants of his routed forces. At last accounts the slifed troops continued to follow his trail, but he must have then secured at least ten days' advance upon them into the mountains of Caaguazi.

Lopez is believed to have still 2,000 men and tweive cannon. The further operations being beyond the Manduvira, this river will be used to maintain the salied communications.

It is reported that if Lopez succeeds in avoiding yond the mandavira, this river was to use to main-tain the silied communications.

It is reported that if Lopez succeeds in avoiding capture and securing a retreat among the moun-ians or the northeastern Indians, the allies will retire from Paraguay, leaving a small force at Asuncion until the final pacification of the country and the establishment of a self-supporting govern-and the establishment of a sen-supporting a ment.

Forty-four British subjects were released by the Comte d'Eu's victories and had arrived at Buenos Ayres. One or two had accompanied Lopez in his flight.

The Paraguayan provisional government have outlawed Lopez and declared his followers traitors. A great many Paraguayan families were arriving at Asuncion, all in the greatest misery.

His Majesty replied:-I thank my good friend the President of the United States greatly for this further proof of his friendship. The reciprocal interests which unite our countries assure most friendly relations, and I am confident that your mission will always contribute to maintain and draw them closer.

KNIFE, PISTOL AND SCISSORS.

Yesterday afternoon a respectably attired mid-dle aged man, but evidently under the influence of drink, named John Phalen, was brought before Justice Hogan at the Tombs. He was accompanied by officer Brady, of the Fourteenth precinct, and also by Elizabeth Stowell, a lady in mourning, proprietby Elizabeth Stowell, a lady in mourning, proprietress of a skirt and crinoline factory.

Mrs. Stowell said that Phaien, from whom she had been divorced during the last twelve months, had forced himself into a room at her factory, had knocked her down and held a loaded pistol to her head. A young man employed in the establishment had wrested the pistol from him, and Phalen had then grasped her by the neck and endeavored to strike her with a pair of snears and a knife. The girls in the room—about thirty of them—fied in great alarm, and she was herself dragged from Phaien by some of the workpeopie. Phalen then locked himself in the room, creating considerable alarm by his violent conduct. Officer Brady found a crowd of about 1,000 persons around the factory, and fercing his way to the room where Phalen was he demanded admission, which was refused. He then burst the door open, and rusning upon Phalen disarmed him, and, on the comphaint of Mrs. Stowell, conveyed him to the Toabs. In default of $1,000 ne was committed to answer.
